

Transcript 1 – How can we support and empower young children to think about their futures?

DR. KIMBERLY HOWARD

“And when I mention field trips here, I want you to think about this broadly. Because any time you are out in public, in the world with your child, this is a field trip. When you go to the bank, to the store, to the museum – you see people doing jobs. All of these trips provide opportunities to expose your children to the world of work.”
